"Maud" will look tame by the side of the complimentary notice Speaker Cannon may expect in the next issue of the Arizona Kicker.

ARIZONA seems to have preferred to be governed by the Washington officials rather than be dominated by New Mexico.

It is said that no country in the world has such reverence for its women as has America. We hope this is true and feel prouder of this record than of that some sound bigger.

ASSET recent troubles along that line, one of the experienced ones tells us that the best way to secure an audience with the President is to disguise yourself as a cowboy or a stork.

THE members of the American Society of Equity have won a glorious victory in a most praiseworthy way in their hold-out against the big tobacco trust. All they have to do to secure further victories is to still hold on.

A LOUISVILLE negro asked a policeman for a match, and immediately the cock crew. The chicken in question happened to be hidden under the negro's arm and the darkey was taken to court, with the rooster as witness, fined $15 and placed under a $800 bond for three months. Moral for colored chicken-carriers: Don't ask a policeman for a match.

MR. STEVENSON FISH, President of the Illinois Central Railroad, delivered an address at the Board of Trade banquet in Louisville last week, in which he made a protest against the concentration of control of capital in railroads and business affairs. Mr. Fish never gives any but good advice and this is among the best he has given. He speaks from the point of knowledge of affairs and his views are always good. Big capitalists better heed him.

GEN. JOSEPH WHEELER, one of the best known and beloved of the old Confederate Generals, died last Thursday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith, in Brooklyn, N. Y., after a week's illness, of pneumonia. Gen. Wheeler was known personally to a majority of the Confederate veterans of the South, as well as to a large number of other persons who had the pleasure of meeting him. It can be truly said that all who knew him loved him. He was a great General and a great man, lovable in traits of character, and his demise causes universal sorrow.

The news comes that P. J. Hughes, of Kansas City, was convicted of the charge of usury by a jury. J. H. Williamson, the prosecuting witness, charged that he had agreed to pay Hughes two years ago and had paid $11 in interest and still owed Hughes $21. Hughes was sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $100. The supreme court of Missouri has decided that an interest rate of more than 2 percent per month is usury. Commenting on this important item, the Owensboro Messenger says: "A few such decisions in Kentucky would run the loan sharks out of the State. The present legislature should not fail to pass a bill putting them entirely out of business."

HARDLY a Legislature assembles but what some legislator of more or less precocity thinks it incumbent upon himself to introduce a bill which is perhaps nothing more than an old paper under a new heading. Many bills of this character have sprung up in the present Legislature. Their demands usually relate to matters of little importance and are seldom the expression of a majority of the citizens whom they would affect. We hope the time is almost here when legislators will understand that their constituents do not expect them to spend all their time framing bills. A good and needed bill is often a good thing, but a good watcher at the law-making mill is also another good thing.

THAT little word "affinity," did you ever think how much it means in the happiness and prosperity of people? How many business concerns are ruined or retarded in growth just because one or more members of the concern are not closely allied to one or more of the firm. How many men make business failures of themselves simply because they have not the ability to affiliate or affiliate themselves with their fellowman. And in marriage, what a difference that little word "affinity" makes for the happiness or unhappiness of the couple. No one is to blame. It is a matter that really cannot be helped. It is just one of those portions of the mental make-up with which we are all endowed, and is a natural impulse more than a fault. But it cuts a large figure in our journey through life.

Any one suffering from kidney pains, backache, bladder trouble or rheumatism who will take a dose of Pine-les before retiring at night, shall be relieved before morning. Sold by J. H. Williams.

A Sad Parting.

On Tuesday, January 16, Mr. E. S. Howard closed his school at Elizabethtown. At the close of the day's work, Mr. Howard gave a nice talk to pupils and patrons. The scene was more like that of a funeral than the usual closing of a school. The cheeks of both teacher and pupils were bathed in tears. In fact there was hardly a dry eye in the house. It was a sad day for patrons, pupils and teacher. Mr. Howard taught a successful school and both pupils and patrons have become greatly attached to him and he to them. The entertainment given at night was good, but much crowded. There were many people present from Butler county. I feel that I speak the sentiment of each and every individual in the community when I say we are proud of such a teacher as Mr. Howard. G. N. Cox.

PENCIL PUSHERS

Held Their Mid-Winter Meeting at Frankfort.

The Mid-winter meeting of the Kentucky Press Association was held in Frankfort on the 23d inst., with fifty odd papers represented. The Association convened at 11 o'clock a. m., with President E. A. Gullion, of Henry county, presiding. Mr. Gullion is likewise a Representative from his county. Frankfort's Mayor made the welcome address and Mayor Clarence E. Woods, of Richmond, who is also a member of the association, made a very happy response.

The association, after a three hours session, adjourned and were escorted to the Elk's Home, where an elegant luncheon, prepared by the Business Men's Association of Frankfort, awaited them. After which Mr. La Lee, manager of the Frankfort Street Car Company, took the delegates a ride over the city, including a visit to the site for the new Capitol building.

A vote of thanks was extended to Jas. H. Eads, a typical mountaineer editor, at the conclusion of his talk on newspaper development in the mountains.

The value of District Association was discussed by Mr. A. D. Miller, of Richmond, who is Secretary of the Eighth District Publisher's Association. Lew B. Brown, of the Harrodsburg Democrat, was slated for a paper on "Need of Legislation on Advertising," not being able to present, the subject was turned into a general discussion, led by Green R. Keller, of the Carlisle Mercury.

Among the speakers on the proposed libel law, was Mr. W. B. Haldeman, of the Louisville Times.

James K. Patterson, President of the State A. & M. College, paid a glowing tribute to Kentucky's editors, referring to them as the moulders of public opinion, as well as "doers and undoers of men." A cordial invitation was extended to the editors to meet in Lexington, with headquarters at the State College.

The night session of the association, presided over by Governor Beckham, was treated to a feast of fun and logic by William Lightfoot Vischer, of Chicago, and A. Y. Ford, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, Louisville.

In introducing Mr. Ford, whose subject was "Newspapers, Politicians and Machines," Governor Beckham said: "I am acquainted with a good many newspapers and a few politicians, but I am unfamiliar with machines." Mr. Ford spoke in glowing terms of the commercial development of Kentucky in recent years, closing with a plea for greater progress. Lient Governor Thorne, after repeated calls, entertained the editors a few minutes with wit such as he alone can produce, after which architect Frank Andrews explained the reason for his request for an additional $1,000,000 appropriation for the State Capitol.
